President's Message

I've been thinking a lot lately about the word EFFORT. Like how much EFFORT would you personally give to stop certain things from happening to you, your spouse, your children, your grandchildren, and other people whom you hold dear? So, I'd like to pose a few questions.

CAROLINE SMITH
NvFRW PRESIDENT

How much EFFORT would YOU give: IF someone was stealing your hard-earned money and then giving it away willy-nilly to just about anyone the thief thought would benefit himself?

Huh? That sounds like what the Democrat party and the rinos of the Republican party do every day by taxing us to oblivion. You can't earn enough to support their habit, and they won't seek treatment to cure themselves. Do you remember the ole days when it only took one spouse's income to feed the family?

What IF someone swiped your children, held them at an indoctrination camp, and brain-washed them into believing you were evil by the mere fact you were white or thought a woman was a woman.

Huh? That sounds a lot like the CRT agenda of the Democrat party and the pedagogy fostered by the liberal-imbedded teachers' unions.

What IF someone trespassed into your yard, entered your house, and demanded you pay for their upkeep by providing them with drink, medical care, education, or anything else their little heart felt they deserved?

Huh? It sounds a lot like the diaspora of illegals crossing our borders from over 150 countries, doesn't it?

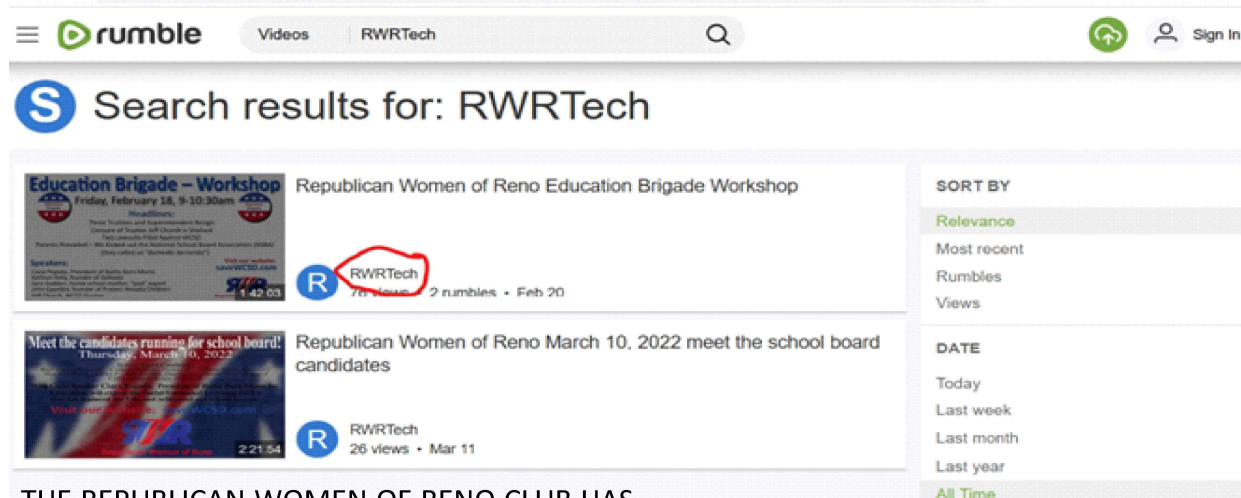

What IF someone caused skyrocketing inflation, depreciation of your standard of living, a demand that you work harder to pay for their gluttonous and demand for more and more of your money?

Huh? It sounds a lot like the Democrats' unhinged borrowing and spending policies, causing our money to spiral toward worthlessness. And what about their stopping the unlimited production of our rich oil and gas resources, only to substitute purchases not from U.S. producers but making purchases from dictators around the world.

I could go on and on, but I think you get the point. So, let's return to my question of what EFFORT you are willing to give to stop this lunacy? We need you to decide if it'll be five minutes, five hours, five days, or some other quantum amount of your EFFORT. You decide, but choose, knowing that it is up to YOU and ME to stop this. Work long and hard for our Republican candidates. Only with their election can we stop this rush toward oligarchy, socialism, totalitarianism, and communism.

God Bless, Caroline

NvFRW Spring Meeting Recap

By Caroline Smith

Our 2022 NvFRW Spring Board and Member Meeting was an outstanding success, held on April 9, 2022, at Sparks Nugget Casino Resort and attended by an enthusiastic, passionate group of women. Cher Daniels gave the invocation. Christine Hilts gave an inspiring rendition of God Bless America, and Joan Shoop led us in the pledge.

Claudia Fisher and Doni Webber manning one of our registration tables gave each member of the Executive Committee and each club president a beautiful vase of flowers, and decorated the meeting room with festive balloons. The other table was staffed by Cher Daniels, Phyllis Westhrop, and Glenda Jacobson. The Washoe Republican Women's club president Glenda round-table discussions, one among the Club Presidents chaired by Jennifer Tuggle and the second among our Executive Committee. The feedback was all positive, many saying they learned something worthwhile that they could bring back to their clubs.

We then started the meeting with customary order, including thanks to the various persons contributing to the success of the meeting, which included our outstanding graphic artist Anita Kornoff. NvFRW secretary Kathy Doyle presented the preliminary and final credential report and confirmed a quorum.

Following the approval by the Board of the nominees for the various standing committee chairs and vice-chairs, reports were given by the Executive Committee, club presidents, and Regents. Lynne Hartung presented the NvFRW 2020-2021 financial review. After that, Budget and Finance Chair Claudia Fisher presented the amended budget, which was approved after receiving comments from NvFRW Treasurer Barbara Kirk.

I summarized my recent attendance at the April 2022 NFRW Spring Board Meeting in Old Town Alexander, Va. The primary message coming from the National Board was to unite in electing our Republican candidates at the mid-terms. Noteworthy was that our national membership for 2021 had risen to approximately 65,000 members, and in 2022 there will be 275

Gilmore and her club's members hosted the affair and supplied a lovely basket for auctioning and serving up delicious homemade cookies. Republican Women of Reno, through their president Nicòl Herris and its members, gave a beautiful basket that was also auctioned.

We kicked off early morning before the meeting with two women running for office around the country. I was delighted to meet Virginia’s Lieutenant Governor Winsome Earle-Sears and many other of our prominent Republican leaders.

The meeting moved to two workshops, one “Education, School Board, and CRT” led by Yolanda Knaak and Bev Stenehjem, the second “Election Integrity” led by RNC Data Director Holden Smythe and RNC Northern NV Regional Field Director Beau Hamilton. Holden and Beau spoke of the SideKick program, campaign volunteer awards, and how to schedule volunteer work shifts.

Multiple club presentations were given by WRW member Melissa Clement, Douglas County member Linda Colvechio, ARWRW member Lydia Ruiz, RWR member Bev Stenehjem, and SHRW member Heather Stamer, and BBRW member Jill Douglas.

We were then fortunate to have as our noon speaker Niger Innis, who was introduced by NvFRW First VP Melissa Blundo. Niger Innis, board member of the Congress of Racial Equality and a member of the National Rifle Association, gave an outstanding address. He was well-received, as evidenced by the enthusiastic standing ovation after his speech.

After lunch, we focused on two topics: “What are We going to do for the Midterms” and “Getting Your Club Ready for the Fight,” both led by Nicôl Herreris. Participation was spirited.

We ended with reports from our Boutique Chair Brenda Robertson and PEM Chair Barb Hawn. I concluded the meeting by urging the Board and members to continue with their Achievement Awards with the goal of all 18 clubs going to the Oklahoma NFRW Convention in 2023 with a Diamond Award. (See pg. 12.) I also reminded the members always to be professional, help their club presidents and Board, never hesitate to recruit new members, use the sidekick program, and schedule times to help the NvFRW and the state and national GOP as much as possible. I noted that club letterheads and flyers should say, “Member of the NvFRW.”

Thanks to all for attending and helping with the program and logistics. I apologize if I left out anyone who worked to make the meeting such an educational and enjoyable experience.

So, let’s get out there and WIN!

Nevada Women of History

Hannah Keziah Clapp

Hannah came to the West at age 35, passing through the Truckee Meadows on her way to Sacramento. Within a year, she returned to Nevada, where she remained for the next 41 years.

In 1860, she organized a private co-education school in Carson City, which had no schools at the time. She was amply supported by the Territorial Legislature, Governor James W. Nye, and soon-to-be Senator William M. Stewart. Within four years, her school had become successful and had the honor of being visited by Mark Twain, who mimicked some of his observations in scenes in Tom Sawyer. She became the first instructor and librarian at the University of Nevada after her school's move to Reno.

A historical marker at the state capital says she and Eliza Babcock famously won a bid to construct an iron fence around the Capitol grounds in 1875. Further information is available from the Nevada Historical Society and "Nevada Women's History Project."

BOOTS ON THE GROUND

Ideas to engage your members and community

Can you believe that there isn't a procedure manual for candidates on how to conduct a campaign? Every election cycle, we spin our wheels, running around trying to figure out what to do and how to do it.

Last year, we discovered this when we started to recruit candidates for the four school board seats. We looked around but couldn't find any information on how to start or what to do.

The Republican Women of Reno (RWR) have decided that enough is enough. We decided to create an infrastructure for all our Republican candidates to guide them in their pursuit of the seat they are running for.

We are calling it Boots on the Ground, RWR's newest brigade. Boots on the Ground will be a guide that provides step-by-step instructions to candidates about everything they need to win: from obtaining an EIN # for filing to designing yard signs, getting demographic data on constituents, and finding donors.

Boots on the Ground will also help mobilize teams of volunteers to go door-to-door and hand out literature for the candidates.

This is a brand new concept that we are beta-testing with our school board candidates. We hope to produce a procedure manual in time for our next election cycle in 2024 – which will be here sooner than we think.

Nicôl Herris, president of RWR, will be sharing our Boots on the Ground and inviting every club in Nevada to join us!

*FROM THE NvFRW PARLIATARIANDEBATE: ITS RULES AND DECORUM

Compiled by Connie Skidmore, RP, 2022 (RONR, ed. 2020, pp. 365-378)

DEFINITION OF DEBATE

Debate is the discussion of the merits of a pending question; whether the proposal (motion, resolution) under consideration should or should not be agreed to by the group/assembly. Here are some rules and decorum:

SOME RULES GOVERNING DEBATE

Every group member has the right to speak to every debatable motion before it is acted upon. The motion has to be on the floor in order to debate it.

A member must be recognized by the Presiding Officer/Chair before speaking in debate. The person making the motion has the right to speak first in debate.

A member may speak twice (if group rules allow) for a pre-determined time on each pending motion.

The Presiding Officer/Chair should see that those debating for and those arguing against a pending question should alternate in debate. Debate rights are not transferable.

DECORUM IN DEBATE

A Member should: Confine remarks to the merits of the pending question. Refrain from attacking a member's motives and avoid name-calling. The motion, not the member, is the subject of debate. Address all remarks through the Presiding Officer/Chair and not each other directly.

Refrain from speaking against one's own motion. Refrain from side conversations, whispering, or in any way interrupting the debate and voting on a motion/resolution.

Not interrupt another member speaking in debate, nor should the Presiding Officer/Chair do so, except in a special situation where the urgency of the situation justifies the interruption.

It should be noted that, in a deliberative assembly/group, motions should be brought to the floor before the start of debate, or any conversation about a proposed motion. However, in small groups, a brief informal discussion or consultation of a subject may assist a member in framing a proper motion.

Regents Program

There is a lot to learn about the Nevada Federation of Republican Women (NvFRW). The club you belong to and her sister clubs in Nevada make up the NvFRW. The NvFRW and her sister clubs on the state level make up the National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW). The Regent Program of the Nevada Federation of Republican Women was modeled after the Regent Program of the National Federation of Republican Women. Through a free-will donation, both are groups of members who help educate their members in leadership and campaign management to identify and support Republican candidates and Republican values.

The Nevada Federation of Republican Women's Regent Program is growing. The February/March newsletter reported 60 Regents enrolled. I am happy to report today that the number has grown to 78. It is reassuring that our members realize the importance of good leadership and recognize that leadership is developed through training, example, and experience. I hope to provide insight into the workings and rationale for the Regent's program to enlighten our members about this important program and encourage them to join us.

When I took on the responsibility of the Southern Regents Director, I was forwarded a brief history of the Regents Program compiled by Nancy Dallas. I gleaned from this brief history that the Regents program was started in 1989 to raise funds to educate NvFRW members. Over the years, it narrowed its scope to funding the Leadership Conferences and Campaign Management School. We trained 190 members at our Leadership conferences this past January. In-person Campaign Management School should return soon.

Leadership Conferences are an essential tool in preparing your club leaders to ensure your clubs are run professionally, efficiently, and effectively within the parameters of the National Federation of Republican Women and our own

Nevada Federation of Republican Women. Regents are also responsible for the cost of the Regents meeting (35 in attendance April 2022) and the reception that follows (42 in attendance April 2022). Regents meet before the Board of Directors meets twice a year. This meeting is run under the NvFRW's By-Laws, Robert Rules of Order, and within the scope of the Regent's Standing Rules. The Regent's Reception is often referred to as a "cocktail party." In reality, this reception is a social event where members freely discuss the politics of the day or their preferred candidates. It is a great way to break the ice when meeting new members because you know you already have something in common. Beverages and finger food are provided. Regent's other expenses are clearly stated in their Standing Rules and include reimbursements for the cost of attending club meetings promoting the Regents program. The Standing Rules provide the guidelines and requirements for approving any other spending.

Many newer members have not heard of the Regent Program, and older members have forgotten about it. Your 2022-2023 Regent Directors in the North and South plan on changing that because while leadership is imperative on the club level, it is critical on a personal level. Each of us must become the captain of our army of one (ourselves) and take our fight to preserve our freedoms and conservative values to the grocery check-out line, our hair and nail salons, and our relatives, neighbors, and friends. Still not a Regent? We would love to have you join us—we need you. Please consider committing, then fill out the form in this newsletter with your donation and mail it to your regional director. MEMBERSHIP TIPS

By Nicôl Herris, NvFRW 2nd VP

It was great to see so many of you at the NvFRW Spring Meeting in Reno and to have the opportunity to mix and mingle. With a very full agenda much was shared and learned from our clubs and members. We are fortunate to have videotaped the meeting so that those who missed the meeting can have the opportunity to review the excellent presentations.

This year's current membership is lagging from where we were last year. However, clubs are working hard to encourage new members while following up on renewals. Each month, I send out Monthly Membership Tips to the Membership Chairs and will continue to do so. Please send me your ideas so that I may share them with the other clubs.

We will have a Membership Incentive Program with a financial award to those clubs that have achieved 100% membership. Our motto is: "Each One Bring One," and having it displayed at your meetings reminds us to bring our friends. If you need more table cards or stickers, please let me know.

Have you visited our websites? There are many "Membership Tips" available at nvfrw.org and nfrw.org, along with many other resources. Encourage your board and members to visit these websites.

Thank you and your Membership Committee!

SECRETARY'S CORNER

Greetings Club Secretaries

In this newsletter, I'm continuing with excerpts from the mini-workshop entitled "Great Meetings Start with a Great Secretary," given by Joannah Schumacher, Registered Parliamentarian and member of the National Association of Parliamentarians First Nevada Unit.

This is part two of BASICS OF MINUTES. As all of you are so competent and already know the basics, the following can serve as a checklist/reminder.

After the Meeting:

- Writing the minutes
- Notify committee members of their appointments and objectives.
- Create an ACTION LIST, showing actions to be taken, when, and by whom.
- Retain any important documents given to you at the meeting.
- Document the facts—not personal opinions.
- Only capture "Actions Completed"—not verbal discussions.

What Should Minutes Include:

- Name of society or organization.
- What kind of meeting? Regular, special, annual.
- Date and Time of meeting—include the meeting place if it is not always the same.
- State that the Chairman/President and Secretary were present or names of the persons who substituted for them.
- Document the Time the meeting was called to order and adjourned.
- State whether the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read or as corrected.
- State that the minutes were approved "as corrected"—you do not need to specify what the correction was.

What the Minutes Should NOT Include:

- The Name of the seconder of the motion.
- Withdrawn motions not seconded. "Everything said at the meeting."

A great example of local clubs working together!

Spotlight on Brenda Robertson, DCRW President

In this issue we would like to introduce you to the club president of Douglas County Republican women, Brenda Robertson. Brenda also serves on the NvFRW's Standing Committee as Boutiue Chairperson.

BRENDA & RAYMOND

Brenda Joyce (Garcia) Robertson was born on May 26, 1942, to Kenneth and Mary Garcia in Niles, California. Kenneth and Mary's parents were immigrants from Malaga, Spain. Her parents were both born in California. Brenda is very proud of her heritage. She is the eldest daughter and has one sister Kenita. The family always said she takes after her father, who was always busy with community service.

Brenda married the love of her life, Raymond, 58 years ago. They raised two wonderful sons, Eric and Kenneth, which she says was her most important job.

Kenneth married Holly. Eric married Terri, and they had two wonderful children, Alishia and Nicholas. Alishia is married to Cody and has given Raymond and Brenda two great-granddaughters, Ayla and Annora. Nicholas is married to Emily and the family was blessed with their third great-granddaughter, Rowyn, on August 31, 2021. WOW, Brenda visits all of her "babies" as often as possible. Family means everything to Brenda, which would explain the many treasures from the family that she has throughout her home.

Brenda went back to college in her 30s to earn her teaching credential. She began her teaching career in 1972 in Fremont and Santa Cruz, California, teaching K-8 students. She has managed to save special mementos from students ("kids") many of whom she still corresponds with.

When her husband moved the business, RAMAC, to Nevada in 1991, Brenda became the CEO's administrative assistant. She mentioned not to be impressed with her title, after all the CEO was Raymond.

Ms. Smith Goes to Washington

THIS YEAR, the NFRW's April Spring Board of Directors meeting and Regents reception was held in Arlington, Virginia. The second Board meeting of the year will be in September 2022, also in Alexander.

The meeting is an active gathering of the movers and shakers of the organization to outline the future course of the NFRW to elect Republican candidates. The members interact with prominent elected officials, party representatives, political experts, and other nationally-recognized leaders. Various workshops and training seminars sharpen the members' focus on the action items to bring back to their state.

In future editions of the newsletter, I hope to delve into more detail, although my current program is already a reflection of the ideas sieved from that meeting. (see pg. 5)

News From Our Clubs Across the Silver State

The RWLV had Joe Weaver, and Alex Watson speak and share information on election integrity, poll watchers, precinct captains, etc. We want to make sure our club is prepared for the primary election.

We've come up with some fun new ideas. In addition to our monthly luncheon, we put together a "Conservatives and Coffee" event at a different local coffee shop each month. We had 40 attendees at our first one and some candidates who dropped by. It's very casual and fun.

We also present quarterly workshops on Informational and educational topics for members and non-members. For upcoming dates and more info on our activities plus plans for our Summer Mixer, don't hesitate to get in touch with me.

Consider the Benefits of a Republican Women's Book Club

I challenged our Battle Born Republican Women of Southern Nevada's President Jill Douglass with the idea that Republican Women must be well informed to be persuasive. A book club would help us read about and effectively discuss the most important issues facing us. Jill challenged me back, and the BBRW Book Club was born, meeting monthly and discussing books like American Marxism by Mark Levin and The Great Reset by Glenn Beck. The discussions and insights have been exciting and insightful from the start. This month, it's The President and the Freedom Fighter by Brian Kilmeade.

What spurs children born into abject poverty, one a slave and one on a hardscrabble backwoods farm, to want to learn so much that they will dog-ear any book they can find with constant reading? Or to be glad for a menial job that will allow them to pin up a newspaper on the wall and read it as they work?

Brian Kilmeade tells the story of two such children who somehow became The President and the Freedom Fighter in his brilliantly told story of two fascinating and essential leaders providence brought to us just when needed. He masterfully weaves together the stories of two men as they grew up and gained recognition as leaders. They finally came together to solve our young nation's greatest challenge as one "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal" but wedded to slavery.

Frederick Douglass broke free of his bondage and, helped by white abolitionist mentors, lectured and published, telling about the evils of slavery, of the very idea that one man might keep another enslaved in ignorance and degradation.

Abraham Lincoln became a lawyer and a politician, seeking to free America from the scourge of slavery without tearing it asunder.

The story of these two men, how they ended slavery "with malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right...to finish the work...to bind up the nation's wounds," is one every American should read. A book club such as this should be a part of every Republican Women's club.

Thank you, Kerry!

Carson City Republican Women's Club Gubernatorial Debate

On March 15, the CCRWC hosted a debate between some of the candidates running for Governor. The enthusiasm for this event was overwhelming, with over 200 guests attending our luncheon. Candidates Dr. Fred Simon, Dean Heller, and Mayor John Lee participated. Michele Fiore was expected but unable to join at the last minute. Sheriff Joe Lombardo was invited but declined to attend. Joey Gilbert was also invited but had a planned trip and could not attend.

The Carson Valley Republican Women's club thought it would be enlightening to rate the answers and performance of each of the candidates who participated. Below is the tally of the poll taken at the end of the meeting. The purpose of this debate was to continue public education and help in the selection of the best candidate for Governor in the primary.

Dr. Fred Simon 67; Dean Heller 25;
John Lee 18; Michele Fiore 0

CCRW past president Janice Baldwin was moderator, with John Vettel acting as timekeeper. The informative questions provided insight into the candidates' stances on various subjects. We want to thank all who participated and the attendees for coming to our March Luncheon.
